1 WHAT INFORMATION IS COLLECTED?

1.1 INFORMATION YOU PROVIDE US

In general, you can use our Services and the Site without revealing Personal Information about yourself. However, we may ask you to provide to us certain categories of information, such as:

Personal Information, such as your identifiers: first and last name, phone number, email address, and categories of sensitive personal information, such as username and password, credit card number, and Social Security number ("Personal Information"); and

Demographic Information, such as information about your gender (characteristics of protected classifications) and professional or employment-related information ("Demographic Information"). If we combine Demographic Information with your Personal Information, we will treat the combined data as Personal Information.

We may collect this information through various forms and in various places in our Services and the Site. If you register for an account, subscribe to our newsletter, through “contact us” forms, or when interacting with the Site, we may collect Personal Information.

1.2 LOCATION-BASED INFORMATION

We may use location-based services to determine your location (geolocation data). We do this to verify your location, deliver you relevant content based on your location, and to enable the location-based services we offer. You may be able to change the settings on your device to prevent it from providing your location.

1.3 INFORMATION THIRD PARTIES PROVIDE ABOUT YOU

We may supplement the Personal Information we collect directly from you with information from third parties. This allows us to:

- enhance our ability to provide the services you have requested,
- tailor our content to you, and
- offer you opportunities that may be of interest to you.

The Site may allow access to third-party websites, online services, or applications. In return, the third party may provide personal and other information to us. For example, if you select a social media icon (such as for Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram), we may have access to the information from them.

We may also receive information about you from your friends and others that use the Site. This will happen when they submit content to us or post on the Site.

When we receive information from those sources and combine it with Personal Information, the new information will be treated as Personal Information under this Notice.

1.4 INFORMATION WE COLLECT AUTOMATICALLY

In addition to any Personal Information you provide to us, we may use a variety of technologies that automatically collect certain information whenever you visit or interact with the Site (collectively, “Usage Information”). When we associate Usage Information with your Personal Information, we will treat it as Personal Information.

This Usage Information (internet or other electronic network activity) may include:

- Your IP address, UUID – universally unique identifier, or another unique identifier (“Device Identifier”). This is automatically assigned to your device.
- Your device functionality (including browser, operating system, hardware, mobile network information, etc.).
- The areas within our Site that you visit and your activities there, including remembering you and your preferences.
- Your device location (geolocation data).
- Other device data, such as the time of day.

We use various methods and technologies to store or collect Usage Information (“Tracking Technologies”). The Tracking Technologies used on the Site include:

Cookies – A cookie is a small data file placed on a device when it is used to visit the Site. We do not respond to browser Do Not Track requests. Most types of cookies may be disabled or removed by tools that are available as part of most commercial browsers. Each browser you use must be set separately. Please be aware that if you disable or remove cookies on your device, some parts of our Site may not function properly.

Web Beacons – Web beacons are small images that may be included in our Site and in our messages. Web Beacons may be used for a number of purposes such as:

- counting visitors to the Site,
- monitoring how users navigate the Site,
- counting how many sent emails were actually opened, or
- counting how many particular links were actually viewed.

Embedded Scripts – An embedded script collects information about how you use the Site. The code is temporarily downloaded onto your device while you are connected to the Site and is deactivated or deleted when you leave.

Browser Fingerprinting – Browser fingerprinting is based on the analysis of information from your device. Items such as your operating system, plug-ins, system fonts and other data are used to create a unique ID to identify your device.

Entity tags – An entity tag, or ETag, is an opaque identifier assigned by a web server to a specific version of a resource found at a web server. If the resource content ever changes, a new and different ETag is assigned. Used in this manner ETags are a form of Device Identifier. ETag tracking may generate unique tracking values even where you may block cookies.

Recognition Technologies – Recognition technologies make assumptions about users and devices such as that a user of multiple devices is the same user.

1.5 IF YOU FAIL TO PROVIDE PERSONAL INFORMATION

If you fail to provide certain information when requested, we may not be able to provide part of our Services to you (such as monitoring your credit card for unlawful activity), or we may be prevented from complying with our legal obligations.

2 HOW DO WE USE THE INFORMATION COLLECTED?

We may use your Personal Information, Demographic Information or Usage Information that is subject to this Privacy Notice:

If you provide any information that is considered to be sensitive, you may be asked to expressly consent to our processing.
